

Robust Wisteria cultivars promise glorious blooms

Our Wisteria product line offers a full spectrum of bloom colors. The #5 White Flowering Wisteria pictured is representative of the dense foliage and well-developed branching on these sturdy vines that are supported with a bamboo stake.

White Flowering Wisteria (Wisteria floribunda 'Longissima alba') sports long chains of fragrant, pure white flowers before the leaves appear.

Amethyst Falls Wisteria (Wisteria frutescens 'Amethyst Falls') is smothered in May and June with mildly fragrant, lavender-blue flower clusters. The five-inch long blooms of this tough, adaptable, North American native vine recur through August. Vigorous but mannerly, it grows to about 15 feet and may be pruned as desired in early spring. Zone 5.
