

Dogwoods take center stage in B&B performance

Dogwoods staged a stunning display of blooms this year, in our fields and in our landscapes. They were spectacular and can best be described by a worn cliché. Indeed, our local weather conditions inspired dogwoods to “Put on the dog*.”

Samaritan™ Dogwood (Cornus kousa ‘Samzam’) in our B&B fields “put on the dog” with a double-whammy show of bloom and variegated foliage. This lovely, all season performer bears prolific white blooms in May and June. Strawberry-like red fruits appear in mid-summer and complement the multi-colored leaves in autumn when they turn to rich shades of pink and burgundy. Upright branches form a vase-shaped canopy that grows to a height of about 25 feet and a spread of 20 feet. Hardiness is USDA Zone 4.
