

Goldenrain Tree

Koelreuteria paniculata

Showy yellow flower panicles create a blaze of color in the late summer landscape. This small tree is a good choice for lawns, as it is deep rooted and casts fairly light shade. Leaves are purplish red when unfolding and bright green at maturity. Fall color is yellow. Branches are ascending and spreading, forming a rounded canopy. Mature height and spread are about 30 feet.

Goldenrain Tree is adaptable to both acid and alkaline soil, tolerant of drought and air pollution and rated hardy through USDA Zone 5.
